MISSION

Unstoppable You Ministries, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization designed to equip individuals, with and without disabilities, including the domestic violence, human trafficking, and homeless population on how to gain access to mental health assistance through conflict resolution, career training, education, advocacy, and case management geared towards empowerment initiatives aimed to foster self-esteem while teaching various life skills that will improve the quality of life.

HISTORY

Founder, Jennifer Foxworthy, is a post-domestic violence thriver and victim's advocate. As a sought-after motivational speaker, Jennifer travels around the country using her life experiences to boldly, authentically, and transparently engage audiences on topics like intimate partner abuse, self-empowerment, overcoming adversity, self-care, and workplace safety. Jennifer's first-hand experience with overcoming adversity drives her dynamic presentations. A retired Navy Aircrewman, Jennifer knocked down stereotypes and dealt with discrimination as she became the first African-American female Aircrewman, in the enlisted ranks, and the first female In Flight Technician during her squadron tours. While serving in the Navy, Jennifer experienced more than five years of service-member-on-service-member domestic violence. She suffered in silence in a male-dominated industry, afraid to confide in anyone.

As a change champion dedicated to making a greater impact in the world, Jennifer became the Founder and CEO of Unstoppable You Ministries, Inc. (UYM) in 2017. Jennifer and her dynamic team recognize that many people still don't understand domestic violence, human trafficking, and homelessness; or realize that one person can experience all three.
